

Ownership and Control of Water

An open invitation from the Human Rights Network to join an Auckland Forum

Looking at local and global, health and ethical issues:
How should water be managed? Should water be a tradeable commodity? Should access to water be a human right?
What about indigenous rights?

When: Sunday 22 July 2007-3pm -5pm

Where: St Columba Centre, 40 Vermont St, Ponsonby

A panel of notable speakers chaired by John Minto will discuss these issues, including

- Dr Maria Bargh (Te Arawa and Ngati Awa) Lecturer in Maori Studies at Victoria University
- Dr Nikki Turner- GP and Senior Lecturer in Population Health University of Auckland; Child Poverty Action Group health spokesperson
- Alison Greenaway from Christian World Service
- Penny Bright from the Water Pressure Group

Afternoon tea will be provided, a gold coin koha would be appreciated

Enquiries: Joan Macdonald, ph: 360 8001

<joanmac@pl.net>

Directions: St Columba Centre is close to Ponsonby Rd - with a large car park at rear of building.

The work of the Human Rights Network is supported by the Human Rights Commission.