

Post Budget Brunch Auckland 2019

Is this a 'Children's Budget'?

Find out how Budget 2019 will affect children and young people, especially our most vulnerable

GUEST SPEAKERS

Alan Johnson: Alan was the social policy analyst for The Salvation Army's Social Policy & Parliamentary Unit for over 12 years up until April 2019. He has an academic background in town planning and economics and has been involved in Auckland local government for over 20 years both as a politician and bureaucrat. He is also CPAG's spokesperson for housing.

Professor Peter O'Connor: Peter is an internationally recognised expert in applied theatre and drama education. His research focuses on applied theatre in marginalised and vulnerable communities. It has led to developing cutting-edge models of interdisciplinary praxis that explore the nexus of critical and creative pedagogies, aesthetics and social justice.

Dr Sarah-Jane Paine: Sarah-Jane is a Senior Lecturer at Te Kupenga Hauora Māori and Co-Director of the Tamaiora Research Group. She holds science degrees from the University of Otago and a PhD in Public Health from Massey University. Her area of research expertise is in the quantitative investigation of ethnic inequities in health and the determinants of health across the life-course.

With Special Guest MC Dr Hinemoa Elder
